It's official-SJ enrollment sets another record

By MICHAEL DOYLE

Full. That's the word which most accurately describes St. Joseph's residence halls as the new school year swings into high gear. As the students returned on Sept. 14 it was evident that St. Joe's campus was host to a record number of hopeful students. The facts have now been collected to prove what was evident to most students from the first.

Their are now 1,110 students attending St. Joseph's as compared to 1,088 last year. This can be broken down in 347 freshmen, 307 sophomores, 183 juniors, 172 seniors, and 12 special students.

While the total number of students has increased there were actually fewer new students admitted this year than last. There were 457 new students last year, which was a record year, and this year only 417 new students were admitted. This was due to the large number of returning students.

Besides the crowded dorms St. Joe's has 63 day students and 23 students who are living in private homes in or about Rensselaer. There are also 57 seminary students in Xavier hall.

St. Joseph's, besides having a record number of students, also had a record number of applicants. There were 1,133 prospective students who applied this year, and of these only 39% or 445 of the applications were accepted and registered.

While the overall number of students increased, the number of female students showed a decrease—from 23 last year to 22 this year. Should this decrease prevail, by 1983 St. Joe will once again be a men only institution.

Stuff to present annual award

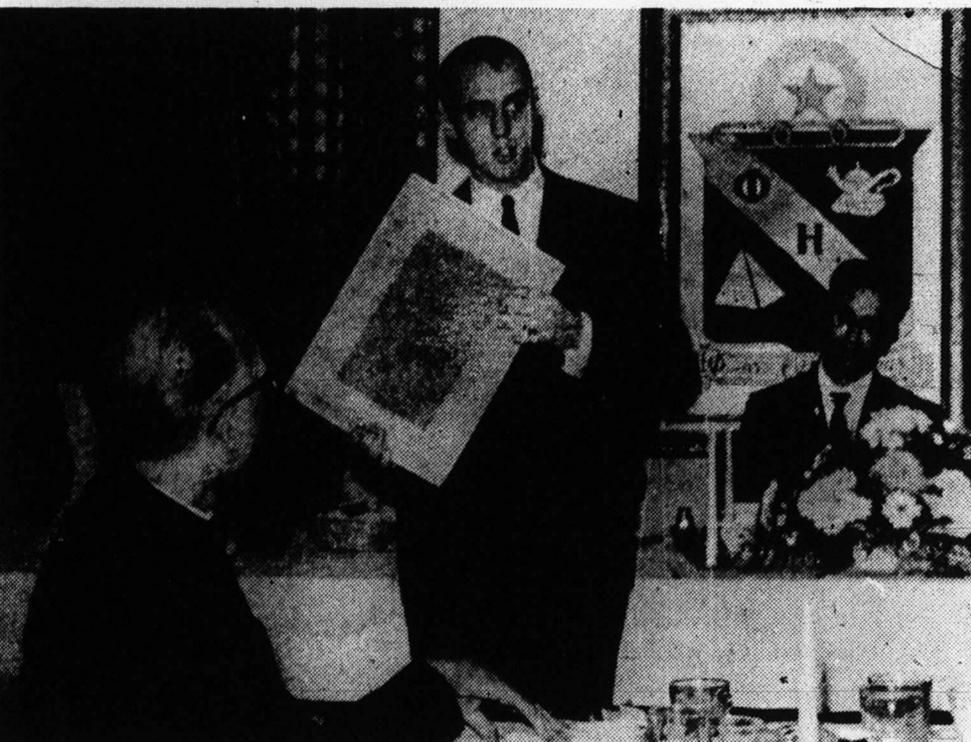

STUFF will again this year present an achievement award to the campus club which has contributed most to the welfare of its members.

Two anonymous faculty members will make their recommendations of what they consider to be the three top clubs to a three man student committee. The committee consists of interclub chairman Art Mueller, Student Council president Al Hanley, and STUFF editor Bill Malley. Their final decision will be made sometime before Parent's Day in May.

The criteria upon which the clubs will be judged are: (1) the improvement that the club has shown over the previous year; and (2) the enthusiasm evidenced in the club's activities.

This will be the third year in a row STUFF has sponsored this award. The Engineering club won it two years ago, and the History club won it last year.

'American Presidency' selected as October Book of the Month

By JOHN BABIONE

The American Presidency, by Clinton Rossiter, a candid evaluation of one of the world's most demanding jobs, has been selected as the Book of the Month for October.

In The American Presidency, Mr. Rossiter gives a thorough explanation of the office of President of the United States, its powers and its limitations. The history and influence of the Presidency are traced from the post's inception to the current Eisenhower administration. The influence of the presidential office and its holder on the nation is thoroughly analyzed.

This year the Books of the Month will be selected by a student committee under moderator Fr. Rudolph Bierberg. The committee includes John Conlon, chairman, Dennis Brestensky, David Markey, James Crook and Byron Franceour. Three members will be added to the committee in the near future.

Each month the various departments of the college will suggest titles to the committee. Choices will be made with the intention of offering each month a book from a different area of study. But, according to Conlon, this schedule is not inflexible, and an exceptional work, no matter what its subject, will always be given priority. All books will be available in the College bookstore.

As in the past each Book of the Month will be the subject of an informal discussion. The discussion of The American Presidency will be held on Nov. 2. Tentative plans are for a coffee-hour type affair with students and faculty members discussing the book in a general group first and then splitting up into small groups for further discussion.

Marines are coming

The Marine Corps Officer Selection team will visit St. Joe on Oct. 10-14, for the purpose of explaining the officer programs and interviewing applicants for commissions. The team will be located on campus at the Rec hall.

Plans underway for Homecoming, Tower Dance

Plans are currently being laid for two of St. Joseph's college's traditional social events, Homecoming and the Tower dance. Homecoming is a senior-alumni event and the Tower dance is its counterpart for the underclassmen. Homecoming will be held on Oct. 29. The alumni and their wives and the seniors will attend the St. Joe-Ball State football game, and then move to Raleigh hall for an informal cocktail party. After dinner the Homecoming dance will be held from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m.

Larry Kelly, senior president, has appointed the following committee chairmen for the event: Leo Klemme has prepared a 12 page program; Robert Ramesh, alumni registrations; John Mascotte, chairman of the Couriers club whose members show the alumni around campus; Bill Moriarty, hall decorations; Mike Montivino, drinks and bartenders; and Al Nett, in charge of making arrangements for hiring a dance band.

The Tower dance will be held in Raleigh hall on Nov. 12. Peter Palmer, who played at last year's prom, will provide the music for the event. Bids will be available for $7.50 per couple. All other arrangements for the semi-formal affair are pending.

Local candidates to appear with governor; Bowers will also talk

By BILL MALLEY and MARTY WALTERS

Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic governor of Ohio, will speak in the St. Joseph's college auditorium on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 4:15 p.m. He will be accompanied by the local Jasper county candidates for office, and several prominent Indiana Democrats.

Di Salle, who has proven himself an able politician in a predominantly Republican state, was an important cog in the political machine which rode Sen. John F. Kennedy to the presidential nomination last July.

Only three days after Kennedy had officially announced his candidacy last January, Di Salle pledged Ohio's important 64 convention votes to him, giving the Kennedy campaign a very early shot in the arm.

George Bowers, who is running against Republican incumbent Charles Halleck to represent the second district in Congress, will also speak. There is a possibility that Matt Welsh, Democratic candidate for governor in Indiana, may also appear with the group.

On the St. Joseph's stage with DiSalle will be: Manfred Core, Indiana state Democratic chairman; Robert Pastrick, an alumnus of St. Joe who is running for secretary of state in Indiana; James Puett, seeking office as the joint representative of Jasper and Newton counties; Al Pfleiderer, campaigning for county auditor; Charles Pullin, running for county treasurer; Joe Sheldon, running for commissioner in the second district; and Allan Laird, running for commissioner in the third district.

DiSalle, a Roman Catholic, was graduated from Georgetown university law school in 1931 and began practicing law in Toledo, O. He began his political career in 1937 as a member of Ohio's house of representatives. Later, he was a member of Toledo's city council.

The governor first achieved national prominence in 1945 as the originator and first chairman of the Toledo Labor-Management Citizen's Committee. Known as the "Toledo Plan," it has been adopted elsewhere and has been suggested as a model for a national mediation plan. Under the plan, a committee of citizens is organized to act as referees and advisors when a labor-management dispute nears the crisis stage.

DiSalle's ability as a politician is unquestioned. In 1947, he became the first Democratic mayor of Toledo in 16 years, and was re-elected in 1949 by a landslide vote. He was elected governor of Ohio in 1958, defeating the incumbent Republican governor O'Neill, to whom he had lost in 1956.

DiSalle's appearance at St. Joseph's is being sponsored by the college's Young Democrats club. The governor will be introduced by Marty Waters, the president of the club.

openings for them. Close behind are electrical and electronic engineers with 820 listings, then chemical engineers with 532, and industrial with 479. Other engineering specialties cross-referenced in the book range from acoustics to welding.

Presidential election provides opportunity for education

While we are still students in college, it is difficult to see how we could possibly influence a presidential election. Most of us here at St. Joseph's aren't even old enough to vote. And so, too many of us choose to ignore everything about the election (except Mrs. Kennedy) and turn immediately to the Tribune sports page.

We are failing to realize, it seems, that this presidential campaign can be a very important part of our education. Whether we are 21 or not makes little difference.

Under the American system of democratic government, politics is going to play an important part in our lives. That's the way our government is run—it depends on everybody, and only as long as everybody remains interested in it will our government endure.

All citizens have a responsibility to participate in the government, but especially the college graduates. We will be looked upon as the educated leaders of our community. We are now preparing for leadership.

Whether we will be able to vote or not in November, we should make it our business to know as much as possible about the issues of the campaign and the positions of the two candidates.

Next Wednesday, we will have a chance to hear governor Mike DiSalle of Ohio talk about the upcoming election. Whether we agree with him or not is immaterial—we should at least hear him before we make up our minds.

Democracy is safe only as long as the people are well informed. As college students now and future leaders, it is our duty to be as well informed as we can.

A good way to get closer to the campaign would be to join one of the political clubs on the campus—the Young Democrats, headed by Marty Waters, or the College Youth for Nixon-Lodge, headed by Bill Moriarty.

Those who are going to vote this November have an obligation to study the positions of the two parties on the issues involved before they vote. It is better not to vote at all than to make a haphazard decision and vote in ignorance.

Those who are not old enough to vote now will be voting within a few years. The knowledge they gain this fall of the issues facing America will enable them to cast a more intelligent vote later on.

Off the Cuff

Those new white booths in the Rec hall have proven to be a perfect hiding place for secret microphones, so if any of your well guarded secrets appear in this column, next time be careful what you say. Those man-eating plants might also have ears.

One complaint overheard there was that Mike Mettler thinks the Rec hall ought to serve "patty melts," whatever they are. And while we are on the subject of food, it seems that there is a possibility of a substitute dietitian taking Miss Skinner's place. He is a resident of Drexel hall and is rumored to have very strange eating habits.

One of our students has had his first book published. The Long Wait, by Sam Rosso, is a fresh and informative book on the anxieties of married life. Although this is Sam's first work, another student author, Tom Roemer, has just finished the latest in his famous series of books on etiquette, titled Social Finesse At Mixers.

In screening the news for this issue, I came across an item which should be of interest to you seniors especially. It seems that last week in a moment of weakness, Harry Creager, knowingly and willfully cut a class. This only serves to illustrate to what depths academic and intellectual life have sunken at Collegeville.

And speaking of sinking into the depths, Fred Hayes hit his lowest at the last mixer. Fred Hayes, master lover, charmer of women, protector of the weaker sex, struck out at the Grotto. This must have been a great blow to the "sheik" because immediately called his mother and told her the whole story.

There is a rumor going around campus that a certain senior has been buying "Tarzan" comic books. Known as "Jungle Jim" to his classmates this senior has been devoted to his hero, Tarzan, ever since his high school days at Bishop Loughlin high school in New York City. In his devotion to Tarzan, Jungle often imitates the primitive actions of the leopard-clad hero. Many times his mating call and wild animal-like laugh can be heard ringing from his room in upper East Seifert.

For those of you who were privileged to have been there, it is reported that if you witnessed Birk Fischer's first night in Kanne's, you probably saw one of the funniest sights of the year. "Big Birk" whether he remembers it or not, was ready to take on everybody in the place.

My distinguished editor, Bill Malley, has informed me that he has been accepted at the University of Buffalo for second semester. Bill doesn't intend to transfer but is just taking no chances. Next issue Bill plans to print another picture showing the other side of Father Baird.

Speaking of chains, Jerry Hagerman, has become quite an expert on those which guard our hallowed halls after 11:30 each night. Fr. Schaefer's night watchmen are rapidly becoming known as the "Chain Gang."

Puma Growls

'Big Four' rap Stuff column

Dear Editor,

We resent the crass insinuation of the author of "Off the cuff." To use the periodical Stuff as a spring board for cheap insidious attacks on members of the student body and especially "The Big Four."

This is wholly an abomination in the eyes of both the common student and the faculty.

We hope that our letter will cause righteous indignation in the student body. We also hope that such "yellow journalism" will not flourish in our midst.

THE BIG FOUR

Nixon-Lodge are better diplomats for America--young Republicans

Ed. Note: The following is the first in a series of five articles on the upcoming presidential election. Both the political clubs on the campus, the College Youth for Nixon-Lodge and the Young Democrats for Kennedy-Johnson, have agreed to debate the issues involved in the election for the benefit of STUFF's readers. The Republican club leads off the debate this week; the Democratic club will answer next week. They will alternate for four weeks and then each will have a chance to wrap up his arguments in the fifth issue.

"He is a person ready to enter the duties of the presidential office . . . has the broadest and deepest preparation and experience of any man I know."

With these words President Eisenhower formally endorsed Richard M. Nixon as his candidate for the election this fall. We, the Youth for Nixon, feel that these are the sentiments or should be the sentiments of all voters throughout the United States of America. Why? The reason we need this man is because he can more ably guide this nation and keep us far ahead of the menace to the free world, communism.

In an age and era when international diplomacy is of the utmost importance, we see a more qualified team of diplomats in Nixon and Lodge than we do in the nominees of the Democratic Party. The record of each is quite evident. Mr. Nixon has offered many suggestions to President Eisenhower in the past eight years in foreign policy and many have been successfully added to our foreign policy program. As for Mr. Lodge's contribution to the safety of our nation at the United Nations, we need say very little. Every American, regardless of party alliance, can look with national pride at his record.

Because the area to be covered in this article is limited to domestic issues, we shall begin with the three major areas brought up in last week's national television debate. The first mentioned, education, is of vital importance to both candidates. The method prescribed by Mr. Nixon would allow for federal aid to education but not under direct governmental control. Sen. Kennedy accused Nixon of not wanting federal aid to teachers with his tie-breaking vote last January. This certainly wasn't the case.

As it was reiterated over and over again, it is not a question of what the issues are but a question of the means to accomplish these issues. The proposal offered by the Vice President would give money to the state governments who in turn would give it to schools and educators where needed. In opposition to this, Sen. Kennedy proposes direct federal aid to the schools and teachers.

Which program is best suited for the American educational system today? Without any doubt Mr. Nixon's proposal would fit better and be less expensive for two reasons. First of all, if we were to have a proposal such as Sen. Kennedy's, we would expect a governmental agency to supply and operate this fund. What would happen? The federal government would then be in an ideal position to dictate policies to the educators. The tragic result of such a system would make this plan unfeasible. Look at Russia's control of education as an example of government control.

Secondly, the cost of setting up an agency and staffing it with adequate personnel would be an extra burden on John Q. Public. The existing organizations for education in our states could handle a program such as Mr. Nixon's with less governmental control and less cost to the taxpayer.

Medical aid appears to present the next most prominent issue. Again there is no quarrel that such a plan is necessary but again the means are different. Sen. Kennedy would like to tie up with Social Security while Mr. Nixon would like to set up a separate welfare and medical aid plan separate from Social Security. To the worker, Social Security has been a great help for him after he has retired.

However, is he to be assessed additionally to aid a welfare program which will not offer him that much more. Secondly, are we to tie up all our doctors to governmental medical programs and lean our medical profession toward socialized medicine. Certainly we in the U.S. do not want any part of this. Again we see Mr. Nixon's proposal for the American citizen to be self-reliant in this free country of ours coming to the front.

If we look at Mr. Nixon's plan, we see a welfare program which places the responsibility of getting medical aid on the recipient of such aid, not on a government program which again could be very dictatorial if at any time it should feel the need for interference. Considering the extra cost dollarwise to the taxpayer and the scent of a socialized medical plan, Sen. Kennedy's plan certainly would not be a blessing to the aged of our country but instead would be a scourge on them.

Summing up the above issues, the Republican platform could achieve its program at a cost of approximately 4.9 billion dollars. If we followed Sen. Kennedy's plan we would be spending between 13 and 18 billion dollars. Now it isn't a question of how much is spent but the way in which it is spent. Certainly it would be better economically to control our budget by spending less and getting the job done.

Such proposals by Sen. Kennedy as have been quoted, such as reducing the national debt, are inflated campaign promises which are aimed at duping the American public. Such an extravagant spending program as outlined by Sen. Kennedy reminds this writer of the famous "fur coat scandal" of Mr. Truman's administration but enough said about that.

To have a stronger America both internally and to the world we must have the best leaders both from an experience standpoint and a capability standpoint. Looking at the Nixon-Lodge ticket, we cannot help but state that this is the best for America in the next four years.

Pumas rack Butler 24-6; Wheaton next

Big second half, tough defense snap Bulldog win streak at 14

Two inspired platoons of Pumas scored three touchdowns in the second half to upset heavily favored Butler, 24-6, last Saturday in the Butler Bowl, before a crowd of close to 7000.

Butler's 14 game winning streak appeared to be safe when they marched downfield for a touchdown the first time they got their hands on the ball. But after the first touchdown the game was dominated by the Pumas, who frustrated Butler's try for their 15th win in a row.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring by driving 78 yards to paydirt the first time they had the ball. Halfback Elmer O'Banion slashed the last ten yards for the T.D. Butler only managed to pick up 15 yards rushing after their T.D. march, which shows the determination of the Puma defenders.

Puma rooters had to wait until the second quarter when Dave Beran split the up-rights for a field-goal from 25 yards out, after the Bulldog's had stopped the Big Red on the 9. Another chance was given the Pumas when fullback George Connally picked off a Bulldog pass on the Butler 15. The Pumas drove within the 10 but were stopped and then watched as Beran missed an attempted field goal. In the closing minutes of the first half the large crowd was stunned when Puma guard Vince Goeddeke leaped over a Bulldog defender to block a punt on the Butler 40.

Marching down to the Puma 17 the Bulldog's lost the ball on downs, to open the second half. Starting a drive of their own the Pumas drove deep into Butler territory only to have Butler half-back Mickey Seal intercept a Gardner pass on the 1 yard line and return it to the 5.

Minutes later Puma back Dennis Houlihan intercepted a pass on the Butler 20 and returned it to the 11. The Pumas were previously stopped three times inside the Butler ten but were not to be denied this time as they drove to the two, from where George Connally scored the touchdown.

In the 4th quarter Madden's punt from the Butler 48 was touched by the Bulldog's Carr, on the 2. Carr failed to gain possession and Puma tackle Vic Roos fell on it. Connally plunged over from the 1 yard line. Beran added the extra point.

A fresh unit of Pumas held the Bulldog's, thus forcing them to punt to the St. Joe 38, from where the Pumas started their last TD drive. Houlihan capped the march by going the final 25 yards for the score. Beran added his third extra point.

Hard charging George Connally led the Puma ground-gainers with 68 yards of the Pumas total of 226 yards rushing. He averaged 3.16 yards per carry. John Mirocha, promising sophomore, picked up 53 yards, while averaging 5.88 yards per carry. Piero gained 45 yards for an average of 4.09. Puma quarterback Ralph Gardner again had a .500 average as he completed 5 out of ten passes.

Intramural Scoreboard

By BILL FORTIN

Not only has new Intramural Director Ed Dwyer dispelled all fears about the incompleteness of this year's intramural program, but he has come up with a program that includes thirteen different sports—more than this school's IM department has ever sponsored before. The new sports will be cross-country, wrestling, archery, golf, and track. The plans to inaugurate these sports are tentative, of course, depending to a great extent upon student interest, support, and participation. Let's view the 1960-1961 IM program in its entirety:

- 1) Autumn team sports—football, plus individual football events. Individual and/or "doubles" competition—cross-country, tennis and horseshoes.
- 2) Winter team sports—basketball, bowling, and volleyball. Individual and/or doubles competition—wrestling, table tennis, and the free-throw contest.
- 3) Spring team sports—12 and 16-inch softball. Individual sports—golf, track, and archery.

This very complete program, and the miraculous speed with which the football season was gotten under way on a very short notice, merit Coach Dwyer and his assistant Norb Daigle a lot of early praise. Looks like a banner year in intramurals.

The daily bulletin will soon announce the coming of tennis and horseshoes, so it's not too early to line up a partner if you intend to enter the doubles competition in these two sports.

The outcome of the game between the Scharf House Gang and the Bennett Horsemen played this past Monday could well have decided who this year's top team is. These two teams tied for second place last season with records of 6-2 behind the now graduated Bennett Overtakers. Despite the loss of Tom Thoma who led both leagues in scoring last year with 15 touchdowns, the Scharf House Gang with their big line, outstanding defense, two-platoon system, and the very fine quarterbacking of Bob Gurzick, are stronger than ever. The Horsemen, with Bobby Decker calling the shots, are also big in the front line and may have the all-around class to come out on top.

Unusual in the Freshman league this year is the bumper crop of good quarterbacks, like Paul Lothrop of the Drexel Drunkards. Almost any team in the Freshman league could gain prominence if it could come up with a sticky-fingered receiver to complement some of this apparently quite accurate passing. Another phenomenon that has gained early recognition is the punting of Jim Driscoll of the Merlini Team 2. Not especially powerful, Jim gets kicks off very quickly and usually puts them right where he wants them.

Two inexcusable forfeits by a team eliminates it from the league. If this is the case with the Aquinas Fighting Diplomats, they will not be in the standings next week.

Crusader season record is 1-2; Pumas aim at second big win

A football first will be made next Saturday when the St. Joe Pumas meet the Crusaders of Wheaton College on McCully field at Wheaton, Ill. This will be the first time the teams have met and it should be quite a battle.

This is going to be an interesting year for the Wheaton Crusaders football team. The Crusaders, under head coach

Harvey Chouser, have become independent, and behind them they leave a record of nine football championships and five second place finishes during a period of 14 years in the Collegiate Conference of Illinois. Leaving the tough Illinois Conference only to face an even tougher midwestern schedule makes the Wheaton squad somewhat of a question mark.

Although every team suffers from graduation losses, the Crusaders were especially hard hit this year. Twenty-one lettermen left in June, leaving the team lacking in some positions, especially in the line. However, a few promising freshmen have brought a slight gleam of hope to coach Chouser's eye.

At quarterback the Crusaders have the services of co-captain Bruce Whipple and little (5'7") Dave Iha. Iha led the Crusaders in passing yardage last year, Whipple being out with a broken arm for half the season.

The halfbacks are led by co-captain Dan Branda who set a new CCI scoring mark last year with 84 points. Other halfbacks are Don Close, Aler Bale, Larry Rostran and Dave Skillen.

The starting fullback will be Bill Ladd. He will share his duties with Kent Hutcheson, a former All-American high school half-back.

Filling the center spot will be former All-Philadelphia high schooler Walt Wolfram. He will be backed up by Chuck Peterson and freshman Bob Westafer.

The top returning guards are senior Roger Culver and junior George Kraft. Depth is given by lettermen Dave Miller and newcomers Bob Sandrok and Alf Logan.

The starting tackles will be All-conference Stan Bakke and senior Bob Wyall. The position will be strengthened by the arrival of newcomers Gary Gray and Al Plymale.

All-conference Bill Hirst will start at one end spot. The other end will be either Rodney Johnson, Larry Grewe, Dale DeRidder or freshman Al Harris.

Their you have a picture of the 1960 Wheaton Crusaders. They are tough, and well coached by Mr. Chouser. They will be a rugged opponent. But, you may be sure that the hungry Pumas will be doing a little crusading of their own as they shoot for their second straight upset victory.

Club News

The Ohio club held its first meeting of the year Sept. 20. Fr. Raymond Cera, C.P.P.S. welcomed the new members and outlined the plans for the coming year. The club constitution was ratified by the members. The main revision changed the name of the club from Northern Ohio club to the Ohio club, thus enabling all Ohioans to join the club. Plans for the 1960-61 school year include a raffle and possible spring trip to an Indian-Sox game. The Brother Dave trophy will be presented this year, as it has been in the past, to the senior football player possessing the best athletic ability, sportsmanship and scholastic achievement. This year's club officers are: Bill Ring, president; Art Mueller, vice-president; Tom Moloney, secretary; and Jim Batistick, treasurer.

The Sociology club held its first meeting on Sept. 23. Mr. Ryan, moderator of the club, was introduced by Art Mueller, president. Other officers are: Fred Weber, vice-president; Rita Layden, treasurer; and Bill Kennedy, secretary. Some possible future activities of the club were discussed.

These include trips to Indiana State Prison and to Purdue, the club picnic, and possible speakers on the campus. It was decided that the club raffle will be held on Oct. 10. Prizes will include a tape recorder, electric shaver, and two gift certificates. After a discussion of the distribution and selling of tickets, the meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. Ryan.

The Motor City club held its first meeting of the year on Monday, Sept. 19, 1960. Forty students were present, many of them new or returning students. The large attendance leads the officers to believe, "a good year is ahead."

Last year's moderator, Fr. Aloysius O'Dell, is being replaced by Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli of Monroe, Mich. The club welcomes Mr. Cappuccilli and feels that he will add much to the success of the club.

The fourth annual Thanksgiving Dance was discussed and it was decided that the dance will be held at the Piemontese club on Nov. 25, 1960 from 9:00 to 1:00. Later developments have confirmed these plans. Again this year the dance will be held in cooperation with St. Joseph's Parents and Alumni Club of Detroit, which contributed so greatly to the success of last year's Easter Dance. A band has yet to be named.

SC to sponsor trip to Wheaton

Dave Cook, chairman of the athletic committee, announced at the last meeting of the Student Council last Monday that six busses have been hired for the student trip to the Wheaton-St. Joe football game this Saturday. Three of the buses will run round trips to the game, and the other three will go one way. The price of a round trip ticket will be $2.50; a one way ticket will be $1.25.

Council president Al Hanley said that the turn-out for the Butler game was not too good, and that he hoped for a better showing at Wheaton. He also announced that coach Joe Iofredo would narrate the Butler-St. Joe game movies in the auditorium.

It was also noted that each club president must turn in three copies of his club's constitution to inter-club chairman Art Mueller. The Commerce club has been disbanded since the formation of the new Accounting club.

The dance committee, headed by Mike Mettler and Dave Hoover, reported that the next mixer will be held Oct. 15 after the Indiana St. game. They expect to have about 300 girls attend the dance.

Hanley announced that junior class president Fred Weber has left school for the semester because of a nervous condition, but that he will return next semester. Meanwhile, John Gordon, junior class vice president, will be acting president.

Arrangements are now being made for a jazz concert, probably on Nov. 8. Gordon said that the possibilities include Gerry Mulligan, Duke Ellington, and Ramsey Lewis.

Sophomore president Paul Andorfer announced that the freshman initiation ended last Wednesday. Freshman class elections, he said, would take place on Nov.
